

Attention: Tribal Community—
Parents with Children in K–12

You're invited to a Zoom Training:

Is your child struggling with Distance Learning or technology access needs?
Get help and know your rights.

During the COVID-19 public health emergency, many families are struggling with distance learning and technology access. If you are worried that your child needs more help or support, especially if your child receives special education or other services that are not being provided effectively during distance learning, come learn what your rights are and how to advocate effectively for your child.

October 9, 2020

5:00–6:30 p.m. Pacific time

Zoom Link: https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_voSfx4Y5Sg2cGp5VlzWeSw

For more information, contact rain@ncidc.org

Presenters: Cheryl Theis, MA Education Advocate and

Rain L. Marshall, JD, Indigenous Education Advocate NCIDC/ACLU of Northern California

Provided by NCIDC, Inc.
and the
Disability Rights
Education Defense Fund
(DREDF)

